

8. Closing remarks

What I understood from being a Student Trainer was that the audience won't come to you unless you are passionate about something. As a Student Trainer, you have to be so passionate so that people are surprised. I think the more you are passionate about something, people are more likely to come. The team is always your family, and you'll get along because you're doing Student Trainer together. It becomes really easy to make a stronger connection